UAlbany Athletics

The University at Albany athletics program continued its success in the 2005-06 athletic year. With momentum from the 2004-05 Stuart P. Haskell, Jr. Commissioner's Cup, which recognizes the strongest athletic program in the America East Conference, the Great Danes captured five conference championships, two regular-season championships, and saw numerous student-athletes garner individual accolades, including five All-America honorees.

UAlbany won America East championships in men's basketball, men's indoor and outdoor track & field, women's outdoor track & field, and softball. In addition, the Great Danes were runners-up in women's indoor track & field and men's lacrosse. Volleyball and men's basketball also won conference regular-season titles, led by America East Conference Player of the Years and All-Americans Blair Buchanan and Jamar Wilson, respectively.

In addition, men's basketball captured its first-ever NCAA Tournament berth, becoming the first SUNY Division I team to accomplish that feat. Building on the mantra "Why not us?" the Great Danes nearly became the first 16-seed to topple a one-seed when they faced the University of Connecticut. Softball became the first women's program to make back-to-back trips to NCAA post-season play, while Gered Burns, Joe Greene and Marc Pallozzi became the first Division I track & field All-Americans for the Great Danes.

UAlbany sponsors 19 NCAA Division I intercollegiate athletic programs, with 18 teams competing in the America East Conference. Football, a Division I-AA program, has been an associate member of the Northeast Conference since 1999.

HEAD COACH/MEET THE GREAT DANES

Head Coach Elissa Kinard

Elissa Kinard was hired as the University at Albany's tennis coach on August 1, 2006.

Previously, Kinard had worked for one year at Washington State, a program that was ranked sixth in the Northwest Region, produced a dual-match victory over Pacific-10 Conference rival Washington and had a student-athlete ranked No. 66 nationally in singles play. Her responsibilities included assisting in all stages of recruiting, organizing travel, monitoring the team's academic program, as well as on-court instruction.

Prior to her arrival on the WSU campus, Kinard served as Colgate University's assistant men's and women's tennis coach. She was also an assistant at American University during the 2004-05 academic year.

Kinard, 24, began her collegiate playing career at the University of Nebraska in the fall of 2000, where she finished as the Big 12 Conference runner-up in singles as a freshman. Following her sophomore campaign, Kinard transferred to Virginia Tech. She was a standout doubles competitor for the Hokies, ranking as high as No. 2 in the East Region and No. 31 nationally by the Intercollegiate Tennis Association (ITA).

A native of Charleston, S.C., Kinard earned a B.S. in sociology and a master's degree in health promotions from Virginia Tech. As a scholastic athlete, she was named the South Carolina Player of the Year on four occasions and won four state championship titles.

UNIVERSITY AT ALBANY

State University of New York

The University at Albany today is an internationally recognized public research university with a broad mission of undergraduate and graduate education, research and service. More than 17,000 students are enrolled in ten schools and colleges offering 177 undergraduate, master's and doctoral degree programs.

Outstanding faculty, an innovative curriculum, and student-centered services create a distinctive learning environment that nurtures student success.

Undergraduates choose from 55 majors in the arts and sciences, business and accounting, public policy, criminal justice, information science, pre-law and pre-health; approximately 40 percent of undergraduates participate in research with faculty.

Innovative degree programs with an international focus and more than 300 study-abroad programs prepare students for the global economy. A new Honors College offers high-powered academic challenges for the best prepared students. Extensive internship opportunities offer real-world experience in New York's capital and the surrounding region.

The University boasts academic strengths in sociology, demography, education, anthropology, social work, clinical psychology, creative writing, earth and atmospheric sciences, ethics, public policy, criminal justice and nanoscale science. According to U.S. News and World Report, many of the University's graduate programs rank among the nation's best.

Both the UAlbany campus and the region are bustling with extracurricular opportunities. Students participate in more than 150 student clubs, honor societies, and other campus-related groups, and choose from a busy calendar of campus events, including spirited Division I athletic competition in 19 sports and a rich array of cultural activities.

Since its founding in 1844, the University has graduated generations of leaders in all fields. Today, more than two-thirds of undergraduates go on for advanced degrees, and acceptances to law and medical schools are well above the national average.

UAlbany has more than 134,000 living alumni, including: Norman E. Snyder Jr., B.S. '83, chief operating officer of Rheingold Brewing Company and former partner of the South Beach Brewing Company (SoBe); Marcia Brown, B.A.'40, three-time Caldecott Award-winning children's book author; Tom Clarke, B.A. '73, president of new business ventures, Nike, Inc.; and Maureen Baginski, B.A. '77, M.A. '79, former director of the FBI Office of Intelligence.

UAlbany, working with governmental and business partners, plays a vital role in the economic development of the Capital Region and New York State. The University is a major international center for research and development in the fields of nanosciences and nanoengineering. An economic impact study in 2004 estimated UAlbany's economic impact as $1.119 billion annually in New York State -- $1.005 billion of that in the Capital Region.
